Women and Leadership:
Creating Opportunities in Challenging Times
August 25 – 27, 2009 La Conner WA

The Northwest Training Institute is excited to announce the annual three-day “Women and Leadership” conference devoted to you and your leadership development. Since 2004, women have participated in this dynamic, experiential program designed by Dr. Anne Cummings for the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

If you are interested in exploring the following questions, you are ready for the next step in your leadership journey:

- What kind of leader are you?
- In what settings in your life do you want to lead?
- Where are you missing opportunities to have better strategic impact?
- How can you do all of this in a way that adds value to your organization, your community, and your life?

This program is a combination of self-reflection, collaboration, individual work, group activities, and fun. During your time at Women and Leadership, you will:

- Evaluate your individual leadership strengths and weaknesses
- Identify the leadership challenges and opportunities you currently face
- Increase your ability to apply basic negotiation skills to your own leadership path
- Create the first step in your personal Leadership Action Plan

Come prepared to spend time inside the charming La Conner Inn time joining in lively discussions and outside enjoying the stunning Pacific Northwest. Women consistently leave this program feeling rejuvenated and eager to begin working on their individualized leadership action plan after gaining a newfound passion and motivation to optimize their unique strengths.
